

De: Robert Hobl

Asunto: Re: "Abrazar" (To hug / embracing something.)

Fecha: March 4, 2014 at 3:55 PM

Para: Emilio Santisteban emilio@emiliosantisteban.org

---

Hi Emilio,

thanks a lot for your comprehensive introduction of your project. I apologize for my slow speed of reaction to your e-mail. In my private/personal life I am at home in Sandleiten (a small city in a city and a very relaxed area for living). In my work-life I am at home around the globe. Among 120 countries in the world I have also colleagues in Peru working for NSN (Nokia Solutions and Networks). And right now it's all about the Cloud, Cloud Computing, Telco-Cloud, which keeps me extremely busy almost every day of the week.

I'll go for three of your sub-projects:

Conecer

Saber

Apprender (do you mean by "their regular jobs" the work-life job? - Well, then it will be something about telecommunications :-)

Please share the interested communication partners of each sub-project with me and share my contact data with them. I am looking forward to start the communication and to answer first e-mails.

My preferred communication channel is E-Mail. Language-wise German and English are my only choices to communicate verbally.

Connecting People (old slogan of Finnish Nokia), this is now to get connected with people from Peru. Sounds great. Let's get started.

Best Regards

Robert